Should you listen to me?

Yes, because:

I'm a smart guy

Worked with 15+ Scrum teams in various companies & industries

As a developer, manager and Scrum Master

Professional Scrum Master II

Should you listen to me?

Yes, because:

As a developer, manager and Scrum Master

Professional Scrum Master II

No, because:

I fuck up, a lot

Worked with 16 teams, mostly in smaller companies (< 300 people)

Most of my ideas come from other people (links included!)

Manifesto for Agile Software Development

We are uncovering better ways of developing software by doing it and helping others do it.
Through this work we have come to value:

Individuals and interactions over processes and tools
Working software over comprehensive documentation
Customer collaboration over contract negotiation
Responding to change over following a plan

That is, while there is value in the items on the right, we value the items on the left more.

Principle 1:

Our highest priority is to satisfy the customer through early and continuous delivery of valuable software.

SPRINT REVIEW

To do:

Get really good at functional slicing

Erase all dependencies

Be smart about risks, avoid big-design up-front

Feature addiction

Unclear goals. The sprint goal  $\neq$  the work.

Read this: <https://kellanem.com/notes/faqs-from-coaching> on "the team isn't working hard enough"

You almost certainly have a product management problem.

Run away.

To do:

Create item: [title] + [assigned you] + [in progres]

Consider skipping ticket when:

- doing it right now
- takes < 10 minutes (and you're 99% certain)
- is a repeating action (automate it!)

Bias to having a single board per team.

Items never go back: stuck is preferable.

WIP: all started, but not finished.

Cycle time: amount of elapsed time that a work item spends as Work In Progress.

Work item age: the total amount of time that has elapsed since an item entered a workflow.

Throughput: amount of items completed per unit of time.
